

Makari Skin Care Creates Presence in the Miami Vice Premiere Swag Bags

August 2006

(Miami, FL July 24 2006) Gift bags, swag, it's all what anyone could want, especially the celebrities when it comes to premieres. So when the city of Miami hosts the premiere of the highly acclaimed Michael Mann film, Miami Vice –all of Miami's hottest celebrities are expected to turn out.

Makari one of the world's leading luxury skin care lines will make its Miami swag bag debut as one of the fabulous products being "gifted" in Madison & Mulholland's VIP goodie bags. Valued at a few thousand dollars, the swag bags was handed out to the celebrities attending the post-premiere party held at Mansion.

Makari, has an impressive international following, with stores in Paris, Belgium, London, Switzerland and New York. This luxury line of skin care was developed to enhance and beautify the skin of all women and all ethnicities. Ezra Aini, CFO of Makari says, "We love Miami and all the hottest stars that come here for the event will now experience Makari. We know how women love to feel pampered and luxurious and that is exactly what our products do as well."

Maya, renowned Pop Artist is posing with Ezra Aini, CFO of Makari.

Platinum Album producer, Scott Storch posing with Makari Caviar Face Cream.

Lennox Lewis, renowned Boxer is posing with Makari Caviar Face Cream as Ezra Aini, CFO of Makari looks on.

Now you can join the excitement of the Miami Vice Attendees and get a soap for almost FREE! Purchase a Beauty Lightening Milk and get your choice soap for only $5.00! Use coupon code #MV0806 until August 30th.